The following pages provide a copy of the US government reports of the lists of students at Santa Fe Indian School from the 1919-1920 to the 1922-1923 and 1924-1925 school years, and, through the 1928-1929 school year, the tribal affiliation that was recorded for each student.

This was long before SFIS, like a number of other former government boarding schools, became a community-oriented school operated by Indians for Indians, the All Indian Pueblo Council having first contracted to operate the school in the 1970s.

These documents are from when the SFIS was a US Government Indian Boarding School. It is from the period of the Indian School known as "the Starving Years" due to overcrowding and the scarcity of food for students. It is from a period when parents were often not allowed to choose whether their child would be taken miles from home to attend a military-style government boarding school. It is from the period before students were allowed to speak of, have, or make anything from their own cultural traditions, before the reforms of John Collier's BIA in the 1930s.

I am Tewa. My name is Daniel Moya. I was raised on the pueblo by my grandparents, Feliciano Tapia Viarrial and Fermain Viarrial. When my grandmother was five years old, in 1909, she entered the US Government Boarding School at Santa Fe. She stayed all the way through, until 1922, and like other students, was hired out during summers to work in the boarding school "outing" programs.

Like many, there were things that my grandmother told me about her boarding school experience, and things she did not. Finding these lists of students is part of my trying to learn more about her and what her world was like in these times.

Perhaps you may find a relative's name in these lists. If you might like to share stories, I would love to hear from you: daniel@tewa-art.com.

A person whose name appears on these lists may still have a student file preserved at the US National Archives, at the office in Denver. You can contact denver.archives@nara.gov to arrange to view or to get a copy.

If you have a family member, likely of an older generation, who went to Carlisle Indian Boarding School, you can also look to see if there's a student file for them and get a copy (from Washington, DC) through the name index and instructions at <http://home.epix.net/~landis/FAQ.html>.

These pages were copied from Reel 127 of a 174 reel set comprising the BIA's New Mexico "Superintendent's Annual Narrative and Statistical Reports From Field Jurisdictions of the Bureau of Indian Affairs, 1907-1938." (NARA microfilm publication M1011) More information on this microfilm publication and others can be found at <http://www.archives.gov/research/aic/reference/native-americans.html> under "American Indians NARA Microfilm Publications." The Superintendent's annual reports for the years 1931-1935 are on the next microfilm reel, Reel 128. Additional SFIS records are available as NARA microfilm publication M-1473, "Bureau of Indian Affairs Records Created by the Santa Fe Indian School, 1890-1918."

It's been hard for people to talk about these experiences in a difficult time in history. Let's share these stories while we still can.

NOTE - Nearly all of the children listed in the foregoing with mere postoffice address opposite their names are ineligible to attend this school under the regulations of July 29, 1919. However, they were admitted for a three-year period in the fall of 1918 and are entitled to attend here another year. I don't know that I shall let them do even that. I may arrange for them to withdraw this fall, although they are a lot of good pupils and I should be sorry to lose them. Perhaps half of them are already out for good; so that although the foregoing list is rather formidable, it need not be an occasion for any anxiety.
